welcome

Congratulations on your upcoming wedding!

First, a little bit about us. We met on the job while photographing for the local newspaper, and have not left each other's side since! By working together we are able to be there for both the bride and the groom for every moment. Our visions complement each other so that we are able to capture everything from the big picture to all the details.

Trained as photojournalists, we shoot weddings with a documentary approach paired with our creative vision. We work unobtrusively to tell your unscripted story by capturing the moments and emotions that quickly pass by in the whirlwind of the day. The end result is genuine and candid moments for you to relive in every photograph.

We look forward to seeing the story of your wedding day unfold and capturing memories you will cherish for a lifetime.
